SENATOR JONES' ELECTION.

The Legislature in joint convention yesterday elected John P. Jones United States Senator from Nevada for the fifth time. Of the forty-five members of the two houses forty voted for Senator Jones, four of the five Republicans casting their votes for William McMillan of Storey county, and Senator Skaggs of Elko voting for Judge Fitzgerald of Eureka.

It is highly complimentary to any American citizen to be elected to the United States Senate, which is the highest office in the gift of the people of a State, but the return of a man for five consecutive terms is an honor conferred upon few individuals.

Senator Jones, because of his unwavering fidelity to the cause of monetary reform and the marked ability which he displayed in presenting the silver side of the question not only to the United States Senate, but to the International Monetary conference at Brussels, Belgium, to which he was a delegate, commanded the respect of bimetallists the world over. Nevada proud of its silver champion, commended his course in State convention at Elko and endorsed him for re-election. That the action of the convention was approved by the people was conclusively shown at the polls last November. Subsequently a movement in favor of "home rule" in Nevada was inaugurated, but as the members of the Legislature, except in a few instances, were pledged by platform and declaration to vote for Senator Jones, the Silver men and Democrats in caucus assembled nominated that gentleman, and yesterday in joint convention of the two houses he was declared elected United States Senator from Nevada for six years from the 4th of March, 1897, by a vote of 40 to 5, one Republican, Senator Kaiser of Churchill, voting with the majority.

The course of the Legislature under existing circumstances could not have been otherwise, as a party to maintain its self respect and command the confidence of the people must, so far as lies in its power, redeem after election the promises which it made to the people before election, otherwise party platforms would be of no consequence and their adoption would be worse than nonsensical.

Though the "home rule" idea did not and could not for obvious reasons prevail in the Senatorial contest, the reputation of Senator Jones as an advocate of free coinage outweighing all other considerations, it will, beyond question, influence future elections, and no person who is not an actual resident of the State can henceforth reasonably expect to be elected to any office in the gift of the people of Nevada.

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY.

The suggestion of the name of Lyman J. Gage of Chicago for the position of Secretary of the Treasury has met with the indorsement of Eastern bankers. Why should it not? Mr. Gage is President of the First National Bank of Chicago, and these national bankers, who run the finances of the country, would be delighted to have one of their own number as head of the Treasury Department. In that capacity he could help his rapacious brethren to even more of the public funds than they now obtain.

What a howl would be raised from one end of the country to the other if the mere intimation were breathed forth that C. F. Huntington or W. H. Mills would make an excellent Secretary of the Interior. That official has to decide vast numbers of knotty questions concerning the ownership of great tracts of land in which the railroads are interested parties. How could either of these gentlemen consistently or conscientiously even think of placing himself in such a delicate position? And yet here is a President of a national bank—one of an aggregation of financial institutions which are sucking the very life-blood out of the American nation—deliberately asking for a position in which he could aid those institutions in the further impoverishment of the American people, and the bankers of the East rise as one man and demand his appointment at the hands of the President-elect.

To place a man occupying the position that Lyman Gage does at the head of the Treasury Department would be like asking Chris Evans to act as fiduciary agent for Wells, Fargo & Co.

How considerate Weyler is of his foes is shown by the fact that he burns the plantations all along his lines of march so that the rebels, seeing the fires, will know where he is and stay away from him. It is to be regretted, principally upon General Weyler's account, that these little amenities are not reciprocal, but they are not. Indeed, some insurgents got so close to the Butcher in camp the other day that they all but carried him off—and, if they had succeeded, the fate of Mexico would not have been a circumstance.

The Democrats at Boise City yesterday refused to support Hatfield, the Populist nominee for Senator. The vote was Hatfield 26, Dubois 27, Wilson 15. Dubois gained one Democratic vote.

The Legislature at Salt Lake City took one ballot yesterday. There was no change in the voting except three Populists voted for Warren Foster.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

The Report on the Immigration Bill Adopted—Reports of Committees.

Washington, January 27.—In accordance with the notice given Monday, Danford of Ohio to-day called up the conference report on the immigration bill in the House. An agreement was reached that a vote be taken on the adoption of the report at 4:16 o'clock.

Danford then made the opening argument in support of the report. As it passed the house, he said, the bill applied the educational test only to males. The test was now extended to females. This extension caused the principal antagonism to the adoption of the conference report, on the ground that it would separate families. Husbands might be admissible and wives excluded, or vice versa.

If the bill became a law, he said, its provisions would be well understood abroad by prospective immigrants, and few families would apply who were not eligible. The steamship companies were obliged to return such. He drew a graphic picture of the overcrowding in the great centers of population, the great numbers out of work and the constant necessity of relieving them from want and starvation. He drew attention to the Corlies amendment, as designed to prevent "birds of passage" from crossing the Canadian border each spring and returning again in the fall. They took advantage of the high wages paid in the United States, paid no taxes and contributed nothing to the commonwealth. He thought this bill less drastic than the one which passed the last House. In conclusion, he said the bill did not go as far as he would like it to go, because he believed the unemployed of to-day constituted the greatest danger to the republic.

Bartholdt of Missouri followed in favor of rejecting the report and instructions to the conference to insist upon certain modifications to the bill. As one of the conferees, he said, he refused to sign the report because it would separate husband and wife, parent and child, and further because it not only excluded illiterates, but all those would could not read and write the language of their "native or resident land language." Reason, and not prejudice and passion, he trusted, would prevail in the consideration of this subject.

The conference report on the immigration bill was adopted on a rising vote by 116 to 105.

The days and years were ordered. The report on the immigration bill was adopted by a vote of 181 to 117.

In the Senate to-day Frye of Maine occupied the chair in the absence of the Vice President.

The military academy appropriation bill was taken up. Chandler endeavored to have the bill laid aside in order to proceed with the measure for an international monetary conference, but Pettigrew objected, and thereupon Chandler announced the monetary conference bill would be urged later, and to a conclusion, he hoped.

A long discussion followed on the proposed amendment to the West Point appropriation bill providing that the cadets shall attend the inauguration ceremony.

Proctor of Vermont argued the law should be made permanent for the attendance of cadets at inaugurations.

Gray of Delaware opposed the amendment, saying the visit would not be in line with military education.

"I understand," interrupted Allen of Nebraska, "the Senator from Delaware gave his great influence to electing a Republican President, and why should he object now to bringing these young gentlemen to see the consummation of that event?"

The Senate rejected the proposition for the West Point cadets to attend the inauguration ceremonies; yeas 20, nays 23.

The House Committee on Labor to-day authorized a favorable report on the bill to prohibit the employment of prison labor on Government buildings.

COMMITTEE WORK.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations had the arbitration treaty under consideration for an hour and a half to-day, but failed to reach any conclusion. The committee adjourned to meet on Saturday.

THE DEACON'S DONATION.

And Why It Was Not Accepted by the Town Committee.

It had been decided at a public meeting of the citizens they that would have a combination library, reading room and social club in Wauwaton. The committee, made up of substantial members of the community authorized to act upon their own judgment, was in session at Deacon Close's, he having a site that he wanted to sell for the proposed building.

"I regard this movement as deserving of popular approval and aid," said the minister. "It aims to secure a wider intelligence and a better tone of morality among our people. Every one should give according to his means."

After the editor, the doctor and the banker had talked in the same vein, the lawyer proposed that they get down to business. "Deacon Close," he continued, "has a desirable lot for which he asks $2,000. It strikes me as a pretty stiff price, but I have no doubt that he will make us a donation of $500 and make a deed of the site for $1,500."

There was applause, in which the deacon did not participate, but rising reluctantly he delivered himself as follows: "I must say that I agree with what has been said in praise of this enterprise. Our town needs it and there is no place for it more desirable than the lot I have offered. Of course I want to hear my full share of the expense."

"Since I offered you this lot," the deacon went on, "there has been great improvement in times. Money is easier, prices are better and really gets an enhanced value because of the general prosperity. I will let you have the lot for $2,500 and throw-off $500 as a donation."

The minister mumbled something he was glad the rest did not hear. The doctor laughed, the banker scowled and the lawyer moved to adjourn in a voice that told the deacon he would have to seek some other market for the lot that had taken such a long and sudden jump in value.—Detroit Free Press.

The Election of Hon. J. P. Jones
Confirmed in Joint Convention.

Carson, January 27, 1897.

After the usual order of business had been concluded in both branches of the legislature, and at the hour provided by the constitution a special committee was appointed in the Assembly to wait on the Senate and notify that body that the former were ready to receive the latter in joint Assembly. The committee retired and the Senate proceeded by the special committee of the House and the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate entered the Assembly chamber and were duly announced. Speaker pro tem McNaughten, who is presiding owing to the illness of Speaker Allen, invited the Senators to be seated near the Assemblymen of their respective counties. Mr. McNaughten then handed the gavel to President McCone, who called the joint Assembly to order. The secretary called the roll of Senators and the chief clerk called the Assembly roll. That portion of the journals of each branch referring to the election of a United States Senator were read and there being no objection, Hon. John P. Jones of Storey county was declared the choice of the legislature for United States Senator for the term of six years beginning March 4, 1897.

This concluded the business of the joint Assembly and on motion was adjourned. The afternoon session of both houses was very short and but little business transacted. A remonstrance against Assembly bill No. 8, known as the Glove Contest bill, was received yesterday and will probably be presented. It is believed the bill will pass in the Senate, although the indications are that it will have considerable opposition. The bill is now in the hands of the Senate committee on public morals and will probably be reported favorably tomorrow.

Anticipations are running high over the prospective banquet at the Arlington this evening given by Senator Jones. Invitations have been issued and the affair promises to be a notable occasion. A number of the members are ill. Carson's climate or mineral water seems to have a bad effect and a mild form of la grippe seems to be prevalent.

On next Monday evening the Senate chamber will be turned over to the Woman's Suffrage League, and Mrs. Williamson and other ladies will plead their cause. The members generally will doubtless attend and give the ladies a respectful and courteous hearing. As to the result of the question to be considered by the legislature, there is a difference of opinion.

S. B. No. 4, Summerfield of Washoe—Requires payment of poll tax by all legal voters under 60 years of age, and not allowing candidates to pay such tax for impetuous voters. Disposed of extensively by Comins, the two Summerfields and Ernst. Passed unanimously.

The hour, 12 o'clock, having arrived for joint convention of the two houses on the election of United States Senator, the Senate proceeded to the Assembly chamber and participated in said convention, resulting in John P. Jones being declared elected United States Senator from Nevada to succeed himself for the ensuing term.

At 12:30 the Senate took a recess till 2 P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

On motion special order set for this time, 2 P. M., for consideration of Summerfield's constitutional amendment, bills be set aside temporarily.

The reason for this was stated by Comins, that the Committee on Ways and Means had agreed for the Senate to visit the State Orphan's Home.

Agreed to, and at 2:05 the Senate adjourned.

CREVIER GULCH IS RICH.

This Is the Place Where You Get Three Dollars in Gold to the Pan.

Some time ago Manager Robertson sent to the New York office of the Gold Creek (Nevada) Mining Company three sacks of gravel from Crevier gulch. The returns from this shipment were received last mail. The News hesitates to give the figures, lest the great value they represent discredit themselves among old placer miners, but they were better than $150 to the cubic yard.

From this gulch as high as $3 has been obtained from a single pan. In the sample sent to New York no attempt was made to get rich ground, and it is believed that the entire gulch is equally valuable.

This gulch is only one of the many that are drained into Gold creek proper, where bedrock has never yet been reached. These tributaries in time past must have emptied millions into this one channel.

These gulches also come down from Blue ridge, Victor and Star hills, where many millions more will yet be mined from the known ledges.

It is here where washing will commence in the spring, and Superintendent Babcock says that about the middle of May they will make a cleanup that will surprise the world.—Gold Creek News.

Must Marry or Pay.

The wise legislators of the Argentine Republic have been very much troubled about providing a population for their large and fertile country. They have decided to provide a remedy by making marriage almost compulsory. A law has been introduced, the first clause of which reads: "On and after January 1, 1897, every male from the age of 20 to 30 shall pay a tax till he marries, and shall pay it once a month."

The second clause is more severe, and reads: "Young bachelors of either sex who shall without legitimate motive reject the addresses of him or her who may aspire to her or his hand, and who continue contumaciously unmarried, shall pay the sum of 500 piasters for the benefit of the young person, man or woman, who has been so refused."

Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. C. T. Bender gave some very entertaining readings at the Y. M. C. A. rooms last evening. Though professing no elocutionary power she reads with excellent expression and is a most entertaining reader.

The purpose of the reading was to aid the library fund of the Y. M. C. A.—a most worthy purpose. If Mrs. Bender gives another evening of readings there ought to be and doubtless will be a much larger attendance.

What Was Saved.

EDITOR JOURNAL.—In reply to your query in this morning's issue of the JOURNAL as to what the State gained by abolishing the office of Clerk of the Supreme Court, I desire to state that the books of the State Controller show that the State has saved $2,400 per year. I would further say that no bill has been introduced to increase the salary of the Secretary of State.

SOUND MONEY.

It Has a Demoralizing Effect on "Weak Institutions."

EDITOR JOURNAL.—The year 1896 closed with a most disastrous record of failures. The people were told by the "advance agent of prosperity" that the enormous increase in December was due to the wedding out of weak institutions, and that 1897 would show a gratifying change for the better. We now have the record for the first three weeks in 1897, and it shows a very large increase over the last three weeks of 1896.

Now, let us see how the weak institutions held up under a "depreciated currency," the very kind of money that the goldbugs claim will precipitate a panic and cause a cyclone of failures. We will be generous with the champions of "sound money," and will take the number of business wrecks for the 104 weeks ending December 31, 1895—this embraces the period when our currency was depreciated the most—and compare them with the first three weeks of 1897. The total for the 104 weeks of depreciated money was 1,050. For the first three weeks of 1897—"sound money"—the total was 1,395, or 345 more business failures in three weeks of "sound money" than we had in 104 weeks of depreciated currency.

We hope the financial editor of the Gazette will try and harmonize the predictions of the "advance agents of prosperity" with subsequent events. The people are becoming impatient, and are anxious to get a glimpse of that "wave of prosperity," and want to know the reason of its delay. FARMER.
Reno, January 28, 1897.

A "Moral Man" Answered.

EDITOR JOURNAL.—"A Moral Man" in the Gazette enumerates a few of the many follies and vices practiced, and by inference makes their existence an argument in favor of prize fighting. No good man is pleased to see temptation spread before the young or the weak and even those who carry on gambling games give advice freely against them. But because we have our share of crime and vice, some of it under sanction of law and some in violation of it, can we say that we will not oppose extending the catalogue? Because, for certain reasons, inherent in the brutality of human nature, society tolerates some forms of vice as the lesser of two evils, shall a civilized community say that we throw down the bars to the lowest forms of brutality that this century has seen, and advertise to the world that although every community north, south, east and west has outgrown this relic of barbarism, Nevada invites, nay goes out soliciting, for things to come here and in public hammer each others faces until one or the other is exhausted. The people of this State have outgrown this business and there is not a man who voted for the bill who would have been elected if he had announced on the stump that he would vote for the measure. The people who voted down the lottery bill in the tempting guise in which it was presented to them would vote down prize fighting, and no doubt they will remember the statesmen who have gone against their will.

Yours truly,

Diphtheria Cure.

The testimony of a prominent physician:

FOUNTAIN CITY, Ind., June 17, 1895.
This certifies that I have been using V. O. in my practice. I have never found any medical preparation in 46 years of practice that is calculated to do so much good in so wide a range of diseases and leave no after bad effects. In Diphtheria it has proved a perfect specific in my hands, and I had rather depend on it alone in that dreadful disease than the whole popular Materia Medica with that left out.

At the Public Schools.

Professor G. K. Owens in the last two weeks has made several talks or lectures before the pupils of the High School building. His subjects were "Memory" and "Elocution," which he handles in an able manner.

The gentleman is stopping a few weeks in Reno, and, as a matter of recreation for himself, kindly volunteered to address the pupils of different grades upon the above named subjects.

American Flat Mines.

A new Comstock would be the result of taking hold of and putting through the American Flat proposition. It would put new life into the most populous parts of Nevada, and thereby benefit the entire State. The matter should be kept before the people until decisive action is taken, and we hope, for the great good it will do our neighbors, that it will be pushed to success.—Dispatch.

Viava Is King.

Visitors to Reno, are cordially invited to call and investigate the merits of Viava. I have sold since June, 1895, $15,900 worth, this speaks its value without further words.
